

I am EXTREMELY tired of being interrupted during Sunday family dinner to be asked if I want a service I didn't request information on. DON'T weaken the little protection we already have. My thought is if you want to know about a company or service, you call them, not the other way around. Thank you